Why elections matter to youths?

Policies on education, jobs, housing and climate change directly impact our lives. Being aware of who makes these decisions empowers us to plan and advocate for our future

Voting is a right and responsibility. Understanding elections early prepares teenagers to become responsible citizens who can make informed choices when they turn 21 and are eligible to vote in Singapore

Youths voices matter! Youths can influence public opinion through social media and community involvement. When youth show interest, leaders are more likely to consider young people's needs and concerns
